Traditionally, films were recorded onto celluloid film stock through a photochemical process and then shown through a movie projector onto a large screen. Contemporary films are often fully digital through the entire process of production, distribution, and exhibition, while films recorded in a photochemical form traditionally included an analogous optical soundtrack a graphic recording of the spoken words, music and other sounds that accompany the images which runs along a portion of the film exclusively reserved for it, and is not projected.

Any film may also have a sequel, which portrays events following those in the film. Bride of Frankenstein is an early example. When there are more films than one with the same characters, story arcs, or subject themes, these movies become a series, such as the James Bond series. And, existing outside a specific story timeline usually, does not exclude a film from being part of a series. A film that portrays events occurring earlier in a timeline with those in another film, but is released after that film, is sometimes called a prequel, an example being Butch and Sundance: The Early Days.

Other major films have postponed releases in certain countries. The Pixar film Onward, released on the opening March weekend, was not opened in the areas most affected by the coronavirus outbreak while cinemas were closed in China, it also chose not to open in South Korea, Italy or Japan.<sup>90</sup> Other March 2020 releases A Quiet Place Part II and Mulan postponed their releases in affected areas, too. This prompted worry that, should March film openings underperform, blockbusters set for release in May specifically Disney's Black Widow and Universal's F9 would move their dates later in the calendar.<sup>187</sup> Mulan not opening in China, where it aimed to make most of its money, was particularly concerning,<sup>91</sup> especially with the possibility that pirate copies will appear and prevent Chinese moviegoers from going to see it in cinemas when it is released.<sup>9</sup> Comparatively, A Quiet Place Part II

had not anticipated a large Chinese draw, as the box office for the first film in the country was only 10% of its total.<sup>7</sup>
